The mystery of our pronounced and unequalled success is not because we are gifted with any supernatural qualifications, nor is it due to our liberal advertising; not in our "system" nor in our ability to convince people that black is white when it isn't.

The explanation is very simple. The position we have acquired as the leading and most successful Dry Goods house is only due to the fact that we give the BEST article at the LOWEST POSSIBLE PRICE, and doing so enables us to hold our custom. Best LL Muslin always in stock at 3c to customers only; other prices according.

Dr. G. W. Kirkpatrick, of the West Table, was a friendly caller Monday. He was a victim of the prairie fire from which so many suffered three weeks ago. Fortunately he saved his buildings and grain, but he had thirty tons of hay, all of his straw, and about 600 fence posts burned. About half his orchard was burned, and a fifty acre field of rye that he had disked in stubble was burned over and killed. His neighbor, Wilburn, lost two horses, a cow and calf and his stables and harness.

J.M. Caress who has been assisting in this office has laid down his stick and taken up the active Sunday school work of the county under the American Sunday school Union. There has been very little work done by that society in this field since Mr. Moss was called to other fields. The society feel now that the work must be supported by the county and W.H. Kimberly general missionary is on the field taking contributions for the support of the work for the year. We hope Mr. Caress will not be embarrassed for want of funds after this canvass is finished.

Germain Towl in the Lincoln Journal, in speaking of the wounded Nebraskans at Manila says: "Kenoyer of M is recovering from a bullet hole through his left lung, which just grazed the heart. Kenoyer was lying on the firing line before Bacoer on the fateful Sunday morning. A bullet came along, buzzed under his face, went into his chest, came out below his small rib and buried itself in the earth. For a time the doctors and his companions despaired of his life, but he insists upon remaining in the service. The boys say that when Kenoyer was hit the noise of the blow sounded down their line like a punching bag. They heard him groan and saw the gun drop from his hand. Four men carried him back under a heavy fire, at a time when to retire seemed deadlier than to advance. It requires some courage to turn your back to bullets and toil slowly away with a wounded man in your arms."

E. G'Schwind, who returned recently from Triumph, reports considerable damage done by a cyclone in that vicinity Sunday, week. He says that there were two within a mile and a half of each other, and were only a few rods wide, but very destructive in their course. W. H. Hill's barn was taken from over his horses and demolished. His corncribs and granary were also destroyed, and one hundred bushels of wheat in the granary was sucked up. All his farm implements and out buildings were carried away. M. E. Butler's old log house was raised from the ground, and his new frame house was badly demoralized. Part of the roof on the west side was blown off, the doors torn from their hinges and the building blown from its foundation. His horses and implements were picked up and carried for several rods. His granary was carried off, but not all his wheat was destroyed. John Strang's house and corn cribs were badly wrecked and his hay destroyed. Mr. G'Schwind tells of one instance in which a swill barrel, buried half in the ground and half full of swill, was taken up and carried for some distance into a canyon uninjured, and but part of the swill spilled. Butler had a binder picked up and carried forty rods and dropped on a knoll without harm. Where it crossed the Loup river the water was completely taken up and the bed of the river left bare. Timbers were picked up and again forced to the ground with such velocity as to drive them several feet into the ground. In some instances the plowed ground was carried away, completely destroying the grain growing thereon.

On motion Hoyt was required to give a $10,000 bond. The mayor appointed W. H. Farar night watch; the appointment was confirmed. Claims of H. M. Brownell and Walters were laid over. The attorney was directed to draft ordinance of estimate of taxes by next meeting. On motion the ex city clerk and ex city treasurer were requested to make their reports by next meeting.

JOHN REESE HONORED.

W. S. Roose returned last night from York, where he attended the G.A.R. encampment. He reports that John Reese, of this city, was elected senior vice commander of the encampment for the ensuing year by acclamation. Score another victory for Broken Bow.

A RETORT.

Eudell, Neb., May 10, '99.

Eudell correspondent failed to sign name; the redeeming feature of theirs was leading a mob gang on an other's place, an hour after dark, of an unprotected citizen; better led them to conversion, or in hands of the law. A SUBSCRIBER.
